NEWS BY THE MAILS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.

SECRETARY M'CULLOCH.

There is official authority for contradicting the statement that the national banks have offered the Secretary of the Treasury a loan of one hundred millions of dollars, which he has accepted. Secretary McCulloch has no need to borrow money to meet the requirements of the Government, and if such necessity should arise, he will neither ask nor accept loans from the national banks, preferring to go direct to the people. It can also be explained that the recent visit of the Secretary to New York had no connection whatever with financial matters.

ACTIVE DIPLOMACY IN REGARD TO MEXICO.

"Ion," the Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, under date of the 29th instant, says:

While legislation lulls, diplomacy is busy. It is probable that Secretary Seward, through his written dispatches to Mr. Bigelow, and his live dispatch in the person of General Schofield, has by this time, come to a final understanding with Louis Napoleon in regard to Mexican matters.—The pride and prestige of the French Emperor are to be saved by simply giving him an opportunity to withdraw his support from Maximilian, without menace from the United States, and with the understanding that the United States government will leave Mexico to the Mexicans.

SALE AT POINT LOOKOUT.

The Quartermaster General, upon the recommendation of General Grant, has ordered the sale of all the Government buildings at Point Lookout. These include over eighty buildings, some of which are very large. The steam laundry, used in washing for the Confederate prisoners and United States troops on duty there, together with the wharf timber, will also be sold.—The efforts which have been made through Congress and the President to have buildings at Point Lookout set apart by the Government for a military and naval asylum delayed action on this subject for some time, but, after a careful consideration of the matter by the authorities, it was deemed advisable to sell the property and to adopt some other method of assisting the philanthropic efforts of the people in behalf of disabled soldiers and seamen.

TELEGRAM FROM GENERAL THOMAS.

Major General G. H. Thomas, after having made a tour through the States lately in rebellion, telegraphed to Major General O. O. Howard that after careful investigation he is perfectly satisfied that General Fisk, Assistant Commissioner for Tennessee and Kentucky; General Tilson, Assistant Commissioner for Georgia; General Swayne, Assistant Commissioner for Alabama; and Colonel Thomas, Assistant Commissioner for Mississippi, have administered their offices with fairness and impartiality to whites and blacks, and have been eminently successful in securing a sense of justice toward the negro from the civil authorities of the States; and, if possible, they should be retained in their present positions as long as they are willing to act.

Southern News.

The following is the bill passed by both branches of the Georgia Legislature, to admit negro testimony into the courts:

The Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Georgia, in General Assembly met, do enact, That from and after the passage of this act, free persons of color shall be competent witnesses in all the courts of this State, in civil cases whereunto a free person of color is a party, and in all criminal cases wherever a free person of color is a defendant, or whenever the offence charged is a crime or misdemeanor against the person or property of a free person of color, any law, usage or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That in all cases hereafter pending, or about to be instituted, wherein a free person of color is a party, plaintiff or defendant, it shall be competent for such free person of color to make and file any affidavit now by law allowed and tending to advance the remedy or aid the defendant, as if the said affidavit had been made and filed by any other litigant.

The following is the bill passed by the Alabama Legislature for the protection of the freedmen:

A BILL to be entitled an act to protect freedmen in their rights of persons and property in this State.

Be it enacted, etc., That all freedmen, free negroes and mulattoes, shall have the right to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, in all the different and various courts of this State, to the same extent that white persons now have by law; and they be competent to testify only in open court, and only in cases in which freedmen, free negroes and mulattoes are parties, either plaintiff or defendant, and in civil or criminal cases for injuries in the persons and property of freedmen, free negroes and mulattoes, and in all cases, civil or criminal, in which under this act a freedman, free negro or mulatto, is a witness against a white person, or a white person against a freedman, free negro or mulatto, the parties shall be competent witnesses, and neither interest in the question or suit, nor marriage, shall disqualify any witness from testifying in open court.

COLLISION BETWEEN THE CITY POLICE AND NEGRO SAILORS.

Last night about half past eleven o'clock, a difficulty occurred between two young men and a party of negro sailors, near the market. The police being warned of the difficulty, began to assemble, when the negroes opened fire upon them. Some eighteen or twenty shots were exchanged, during which Captain Hannon, of the night watch received a slight wound. The negroes, having exhausted their ammunition, or becoming alarmed at the gathering crowd, made for their boat at the foot of Market street closely pursued by the police. Several shots were fired at the negroes after the boat left the shore, and it is believed that some of them took effect.

As the sailors are in the employ of the government, we suppose that an investigation will be had into the affair. We trust that the guilty parties may be brought to justice, and that steps may be taken to prevent the recurrence of such scenes in our streets.—Wil. Dispatch,

SOUTH CAROLINA.—We notice among the proceedings of the Legislature of South Carolina that a law has been passed, giving the election of Presidential electors directly to the people.

NEW GOODS.

New Line Opened! Makes Two Trips to the Old Line's One!

A. CREECH HAS JUST RETURNED FROM the North, where he has bought his second supply of

STAPLE AND FANCY DRY GOODS,

Embracing the various New Styles of the Season, together with Ladies' Cloaks, Long Shawls, Breakfast Shawls, Ladies and Misses' Goods, Ladies and Misses' Hoop Skirts, Ladies and Misses' Balmoral Shoes, Gent's Boots and shoes, Boys, Youths and Children's Boots and Shoes Felt Hats, the Derby the Dasher, the Planter's wide brim and other styles for Men's wear. Boys, Youths and Children's Hats. Wood and Willow Ware, Crockery and Glass Ware, and a superior lot of Family Groceries.

Take my stock altogether, I have one among the largest and most desirable and complete stocks of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods in the City.

Now, allow me to say that I bought my Goods to sell, and they must and shall be sold; but I don't expect to take a piece of poetry in one hand and a full grown humbug in the other and climb up to the clouds and fish out the birds of Paradise and gently bring them down with a pearl stuck on their backs, "selling out at Cost! selling out at cost!" No, I deal in no such humbug. I keep no such a class of Goods. I keep no time worn, shelf-rubbed, defaced or dusty Goods—dust so thick you can rub it off with a knife. My Goods are all new, and of good styles, and I intend to sell them as low as anybody that bought goods with the expectation of paying for them, and the man that sold the goods to the man that don't intend to pay for them, is a fool—and the man that sells the goods is a rascal. Now this is plain talk, but 'tis no slip of the tongue. I mean what I say, and say what I mean. I have lived here and sold goods here for twenty years. I expect to remain here. I pay my taxes to support Institutions of the City, County and the State. I expect to continue to do so. I respectfully ask my old customers, my old friends and new ones to call and examine my stock. I will deal with you honest and treat you right. If I don't sell you goods as cheap as you can buy the same class of goods elsewhere I don't expect you to buy. Call at the R. Smith building, house formerly occupied by Creech & Litchford, Merchants and Auctioneers.
A. CREECH.

COPARTNERSHIP.

NEWBERN, N. C., November 1st, 1865.

WE HAVE THIS DAY FORMED A COPARTnership under the name and style of

Whitford, Dill & Co.,
for the transaction of a Shipping and General
Commission Business, in this Town, West side Craven Street, on old County Wharf.

To the sale of Cotton, Naval Stores, Tobacco, Lumber, Staves, Shingles, Corn, and all kinds of Produce and Merchandise, and also to the sale and purchase of Real Estate and State and other Stocks, we will give our personal attention.
We are Agents for Murry's North Carolina Semi Weekly Line of Steamships, between Newbern and New York; and for Sailing Vessels for Baltimore, Philadelphia, and other ports in the United States and for different ports in the West Indies. Thus it will be seen that we are furnished by our own vessels with the amplest facilities for the speedy transportation of Freight and Passengers. But in addition to these, there is a weekly line of Ocean Steamships on the same route, and a tri-weekly line of Steamers by inland route through Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal to Norfolk, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York; hence Merchants and Shippers entrusting the transportation of their freight to us, can rely with confidence on its speedy transit.
☞ We will make liberal advances on consignments.
All letters addressed to us on the subject of freight, or on any other business, will be promptly answered.

LOUISBURG
FEMALE COLLEGE.

THE EXERCISES OF THIS INSTITUTION will begin on the second Wednesday in January, 1866.
Louisburg is in Franklin County, N. C., nine miles from Franklinton Station, on the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad.
Between these points there is a daily stage line, connecting with trains going North and South.
The community in which the College is located, is noted for health, social refinement, intelligence and christian morality.
Boarding pupils will be treated as members of the President's family, and their physical welfare, both in health and sickness, will receive strict attention.
The course of study requisite for graduation, will be extensive; grade of scholarship high; instruction, thorough and systematic. Parents are requested to instruct their daughters, not to pursue more than one or two extra studies in connection with the College course.
Pupils will have access to a good library, and enjoy the benefit of lectures with apparatus for illustrating the experimental sciences.
Government of the pupils will be mild and persuasive, but firm and decided.
Strict attention will be paid to moral and religious culture.
No uniform will be required for the present. Extravagance in dress will not be encouraged. Pupils will not be permitted to contract debts.
Books and stationery will be furnished at the College.

The first numr of this paper will be issued on the 10th inst As the edition will not be much beyond that of names, those who wish to begin with the st number should order it at once.

Thecw Year.

We cordially pr it to our readers the usual compliments of the season. If our good wishes and labors could m the year upon which we have emered, a hap and prosperous one to them, it should cerinly be the happiest of their lives. But our n conduct has much to do under the blessing Providence, with obr happiness and prosper, and it is well for us to learn to shape our ose by what we have learned and suffered.

The past year has become of intense anxiety and of much sorrow and ffering to our people, yet scarcely any one looking back, will feel that his anticipations have been realized. The case has really been bette with us all than we expected—certainly far bet than we had a right to claim at the hands of a Divine Mercy. If we have received more than ir share of suffering at the hands of men, let, learn to "forgive and to forget."

The future more irtimately oncerns us. Let us remember the pas only to aw lessons of improvement from it. Its losses, its cares, its suffering, its hatreds and its injus, let us forget and look to the future as a mol er of our griefs and a corrector of our errors.

The year calls for work—hard ork and useful work Let us all at it and persere in it until our ends and aims for future go are accomplished. And may Heaven bless r efforts.

The Legislature.

This body we have no doubt, will be convened at an early day by the advice of the Council perhaps as early as the 15th of the present month. The elections having been disposed of, it will be in a condition to proceed ance to the transaction of the necessary busines before it.

The first matter which will properly claim its attention will be the appointment of Justices of the Peace. We hope the selection of Mgistrates will be guided by a wise discretion. Hretofore, it has been supposed that almost any ne who could away a vote, was suitable for a Jstice of the Peace and party politics have had much to do with their appointment. We should rejoice if the day had arrived, when in all the iternal policy of the State, North Carolina was ready to go back to the purer days of the Republic, when men were chosen to office because they were honest and capable. These are the twi requisites for a magistrate. It is a matter of small moment what the political opinions of a man are, always requiring that he is a sound, loyal man, if he be capable and is a gentleman—Without these he is unfit for any office.

We trust the Legislature will look to this, and give the State the best magistracy it has ever had. We need about one fourth of the old number, or at farthest one-third; but let the Legislature make it up in quality. It is a perfect outrage upon society to put a drunken, immoral man on the bench to dispense justice and to preserve the peace. Give us true men, sober men, men who are capable in all respects, and make the office more respectable by putting it into the hands of fewer men of the right stamp.

The Mails.

The mails are still greatly out of joint. Even those carried upon the Railroads are a good deal at odds and ends. We learn that papers and letters do not reach Hillsboro' from this city in proper time and other points in all directions.—We hope that the remedy will be applied at once.

Many contracts for carrying mails began on yesterday. In a few weeks they will be fully in operation we hope.

We are glad to say that a daily mail from this city to Fayetteville, commenced on yesterday.

The Freedmen.

The idea which some persons are disposed to keep perpetually before the Northern people, that there is a disposition on the part of the people of the South to treat the negro race unkindly and unjustly, must be founded entirely upon isolated cases of ill treatment, which if they occur at all, take place under peculiar circumstances. In this State they are certainly very rare.

As a general principle, there is every reason why Southern whites should feel a special interest in their welfare. Reared up among them and placed in relations of mutual assistance and sympathy, often with the strongest personal attachments for each other, there is really no cause for bitterness of feeling between them.—The remarkable docility of the black race during the entire war, the readiness of many of them to aid their owners and to provide for their families in their absence, and their continued indisposition to harm or injure them unless prompted by persons of bad character, afford the strongest proofs of the existence of a strong attachment for each other, which the remarkable change in their condition has not obliterated. In many cases, though under the first excitement of joy at their deliverance from bondage, they left their homes and their best friends, yet the sober second thought in many cases is driving them back to their own homesteads to seek shelter and employment. In many cases in this State, this feeling has been encouraged by the Freedmen's Bureau, and hundreds who were likely to be outcasts and to perish from want, have by this means been rescued and saved.

In some sections however, this is not the case. Many are still idle and indisposed to labor. This occasions the chief difficulty in the way of a speedy overruling of their new condition to the benefit of both white and black.

Our condition imperiously demands labor—agricultural labor. The chief source and prospect of recuperation to the South, is the speedy occupation of Southern lands with active, skillful laborers. The blacks have heretofore, been the chief relisnce of the South in the labors of the field. All its available wealth nearly was dug out of the earth. Now the chief source of irritation and dissatisfaction in the South towards the negro, arises from his unwillingness to engage in the labors of the field at a fair price. The amount of labor formerly performed by them, not one out of a hundred is willing to bestow, although they have the assurance that they will be fully remunerated. Let the Southern people have the assurance that the negro will return to his labor, to do his duty fully to aid in restoring the country, and we shall hear nothing of injustice or inhumanity. This would at once restore order and quiet, and whatever would be necessary for the welfare of the blacks, would soon follow.

GOV. VANCE, and his lady arrived in this city on yesterday morning. We were glad to find them in fine health and Mrs. Vance has much improved. They are the guests of Col. George Little, and Mrs. Vance will remain until Gov. Vance returns from Wilmington. He highly appreciates the kindness of the President in enlarging his liberty, and will make the earliest arrangements to engage in the business of his profession.

Notary Public.

Our friend W. H. Jones, Esq., of this city is one of the few persons in the State whose office was not vacated by the ordinance of the Convention. He was an appointee under the old government, and did not take the oath to the Confederacy. He is therefore prepared to administer the oath and issue sealed papers according to law, as a Notary Public.

A Literary Enterprise.

We understand that our young townsman, Theo H Hill, Esq, intends to employ his leisure hours in culling the very best poems by North Carolina authors which are now extant, and to publish them by subscription in a neat volume at an early day. The enterprise is a very laudable one, and we know no one who is better qualified for the task than Mr. Hill. We hope he will be sustained handsomely.

For the Sentinel.

City Government.

MR. EDITOR:—Knowing that you are an advocate for good government, we take the liberty of requesting you to insert in your valuable paper, that it is the desire of a large portion of the citizens that a radical change may be effected in the city representatives, and that the votes of the several wards will select for Mayor and Commissioners men opposed to the extravagance of the present Board, to high taxes, and to allowing extra compensation to officers who receive a regular salary and ample compensation for their services. It is with great difficulty the tax payers already heavily burdened, can pay the demands on them. Money is scarce and provisions high—if there ever was a time for economy in our city management it is now. There are heavy expenses for the Guard and though houses without number have been broken into and robbed, both private residences and stores, poultry, hogs, cattle and horses stolen, citizens both male and female assaulted, knocked down and even murdered in our streets, there has not been except in one instance, the first offender apprehended—nor in no instance has any of the stolen articles been restored to the owners. Even the dwelling of the Mayor, the chief police officer has been entered by robbers at night and his clothes, hat and boots stolen, still no arrests are made—though His Honor is injured and insulted by these lawless robbers. Is not a change of rulers under the circumstances demanded. We certainly cannot be worsted and may be bettered by a change.

SUFFERERS FROM ROBBERS.

The Mayoralty.

MR. EDITOR:—We recommend to the voters of the city at the next Municipal election, our fellow-citizen, W. D. HAYWOOD, Esq. for that position. We believe if elected he will discharge the duties of the office.

A CASE OF CONSCIENCE.—The Secretary of the Treasury, on Monday, received $60, accompanied by the following note:

"Place the inclosed $60 to the credit of the government. It is from a person who believes that God will punish in another world those who keep that which does not belong to them."

States Restored.

While the Radical leaders have been plotting to delay Southern restoration, and to clog it with distasteful conditions, the President has been silently, but effectively, maturing and developing his policy and the Secretary of State appears to have been as silently, but as effectively, co-operating with him. The machinations of Sumner and Stevens have not in the least disconcerted them. They have not halted or hesitated in the good work, but proceeding step by step, with steady progress, they have withdrawn the Provisional Governors from the States of Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Mississippi, and committed those States to the keeping of the Governors elected by the people. These States have so far, as Executive action is concerned, been remitted to their former status in the Union, and stand like the States of the North and Northwest, free to regulate their internal affairs in their own way, subordinate only to the Constitution and laws of the United States. The power which the President held over these States in their anomalous condition, by virtue of his authority as Commander-in-Chief of the army and navy, was almost absolute. Scarcely any limit can be assigned to it, in the recess of Congress, but his own discretion. The mild, patriotic and generous manner in which he exercised that power, must forever be to him a source of proud satisfaction, as the readiness with which he abdicated those extraordinary functions, when the necessity for their continuance ceased, will forever stand in our history as a monument of his patriotism, and as evidence to the world that America has produced one Ruler who, when tried and tempted, preferred the Constitution of his country to his own aggrandizement.

The Provisional Governors, under whose auspices these States have been reconstructed and restored, have well performed their parts. Their position was novel, and environed by difficulties and embarrassments. Chosen because of their Union sentiments, they were in an apparent attitude of antagonism to the great body of their people, and it was at one time supposed that conflict of opinion and collisions of prejudice would take place that would obstruct and hinder the work of restoration. These gentlemen have shown that, while they differed from their constituencies, they were not their enemies, and while they were friends to the Union, they were also friends to their States. Acting under the advice, direction and inspirations of the President and Secretary of State, with whom their communication was direct and uninterrupted, and commendably observant of their two fold obligations and duties, they have succeeded in consummating the great objects for which they were commissioned, and they now retire with the respect and good wishes of the people of their several States. It is due to the people and the Legislatures of these States to say that they have not been unmindful of their duties and obligations. When they became satisfied that the President honestly wished to administer his high powers in the spirit of the Constituiton, as of charity and beneficence, they only desired to know what he required of them, and it was at once complied with. Their prompt and spontaneous consent to his conditions relieve their action of the appearance of constraint and duress. In this spirit they should, and doubtless will continue to act.

Next comes up in its most imposing form the question of the representation of these States in the two Houses of Congress. That the President holds that those of the Southern representatives elect who can take the test oath are entitled to their seats, is too clear to admit of argument.—His liberality on this subject was evinced in the most signal manner by his appointment of Provisional Governors without requiring them to take the prescribed oath.

It would, indeed, be a startling and hideous contrariety if, when the President announces the restoration of these States to the Union, the two Houses of Congress should refuse them representation. We cannot contemplate the existence of such an anomaly for any length of time, and shall not, therefore, further consider it. We rather choose to hope that when Congress re-assembles, its action will be in unison with that of the President.—Richmond Whig.

I dont think it would be prudenshul in me toe tell you w at I had to say to Mr. Johnson or what he had toe say to me—developements sune to be mad' will start in the branch of the moral vineyard. "Straw shows which way the win blows"—says some body, and I aint callin Mr Holden a straw, when I say he has been releeved of his governour-ship From this, draw your own inference—Mr. Worth has been instructed to take the keys of the State House, and be keeper theruf, from and after this date for 1 year, and it is resunable to infur that awl the civil officers will doo likewise. And then, agin, in Washentun, while I was thare, they held an election to see who was in favour of allowin niggers to vote, and I never saw so much excitement—6000 and odd voted agin them, and 35 for them. And while I was in Philadelfy, I was called on to deliver a lectur before —— Society. I asked them if they had cullured members—they pulled out thare konstitushun and read it to me which xpressly xcluded cullurd pursuns from thear hall. I did not, however, komply with thare rekuest, as Jo Turner was in a hurry to get back, and couldn't wait for me to prepair my artikle. I must say that our party was kindly treated, whenever our stomachs would allow, specially at the white house, for I was always a pursunal friend of the President and used him when he was a boy. I told him we all appruved his rekonstruction skeme, and ef he only stuck up to his program he'd come out all rite, and the nashun would applord him from Mane to Maxmullen's down in Mexico. He struck his hand in mine, and told me he onct knowed Andrew Jaxsun, and they both cum'd from the same State of Tomasea. President's Levee.

WASHINGTON, JAN. 1.

Notwithstanding the disagreeable weather the first levee of President Johnson was largely attended. Foreign Ministers, members of the Cabinet and other prominent civil officers, together with Senators and Representatives were received first, after which the officers of the army and navy and marine corps, followed by citizens, paid their respects. Gen. Grant and staff were present and conspicuous among the crowd. The Marine band discoursed pleasant music. The Public departments are closed and business nearly generally suspended.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.

The government here has been advised that representations made to Spain in favor of peace with Chili have so far prevailed that the good offices of France and England have been accepted upon the terms proposed by them and the United States.

By advice of physicians, Secretary Seward and his son, Mr. Frederick Seward, Assistant Secretary of State, embarked last night on board the U. GOV. WORTH'S ADDRESS TO THE PEOPLE.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.
Raleigh N. C., Dec. 30, 1865.

To the People of North Carolina:

I congratulate you on the discontinuance of the Provisional Government in this State, by order of the President of the United States, and the restoration of Civil Government. This announcement has diffused joy throughout the State. We are now under laws of our own enactment.

In the transition from military to civil government, happily for our country, our past history has furnished us with no precedents to guide us, and hence you will not expect that the whole machinery of the newly organized government will be in perfect order at the start; but in your joy at the return of the form of government to which you have been accustomed, I hope and believe all classes will strive to preserve order, the more because all officers necessary to enforce the laws have not been appointed. The General Assembly will soon convene and finish up the work of reorganization. Under existing laws, it is believed, that the powers of all officers appointed under the authority of the Provisional Government, ceased with the discontinuance of that Government.

Where clerks and sheriffs, elected in November last under the ordinance of the Convention, have been qualified, they have power to execute the duties of their offices.

As no Justices of the Peace were appointed by the General Assembly, it may happen in some of the counties, that the next term of the County Courts cannot be legally held; but where such Courts shall be held or other acts shall be done by such Provisional officers, their acts will probably be validated by an act of the General Assembly.

The Judges of the Supreme and Superior Courts will be qualified without delay, and will hold the Courts at the times prescribed by law; and in the event of the commission of any high crime, upon proper information thereof, they will provide for the apprehension or detention of the offenders.

In the incorporated towns, where the Mayor and other officers were appointed by the Provisional Governor, these corporations can proceed, under their charter and corporate laws, to appoint others. In cases where these elections cannot be promptly held in strict conformity with such charters or laws, the election must be deferred for proper legislation; or irregular elections may be held in the expectation that such elections will be legalized.

The ordinance ratified 18th October last, provides that in all cases of appointments made by the Provisional Governor, of directors in any corporation, they shall continue until the regular election of its officers.

The ordinance of the Convention providing for the collection of Revenue, authorizes the Provisional Sheriffs, to carry out the same.—They derive their powers to collect these taxes from this ordinance, and their office, as to this duty, is not determined by the termination of the Provisional Government.

In a short time all these irregularities will be remedied by the General Assembly; and in the meantime, I am sure, you will maintain the enviable reputation of our people as to the observance of law and order, and prove how groundless is the calumny, that there are still among us persons who are disloyal to the Government of the United States.

We did not go voluntarily into the late calamitous rebellion. The action of co-terminous States forced us to take sides in the strife. We elected to go with our section; and having taken our position, we acted with good faith to our associates and bore ourselves gallantly in the fight. Being vanquished we submit as becomes a brave people. The President, as commander-in chief of the military powers of the nation, magnanimously trusts us. I do not believe there is a citizen of the State, who is unworthy of this confidence.

I confidently rely on your cordial co-operation in remedying the irregularities which embarrass the beginning of my administration.

JONATHAN WORTH,
Governor of N. C.

Desirable Farm for Sale.

THE PLANTATION SITUATED ABOUT TWO and a half miles from the village of Magnolia on the Wilmington and Weldon R. R., between that place and Kenansville, and known as "Barbacue," is offered for sale. The tract contains 280 acres, 100 of which are cleared and have been under cultivation, producing excellent Corn, Wheat, potatoes, &c. A portion of the land is also well adapted to the culture of cotton. An inexhaustible bed of Marl, a large spring of as good water as can be found in the State, and a never failing stream, running through the center of the cleared land, are among the attractions of the place.

The timbered portion of the land being nearest the Rail Road, and the entire place being easy of access to a first-rate market, make it a highly desirable location for growing produce, raising stock and selling timber. Any one having the cash, can procure a bargain by applying immediately to

THE CLOSING YEAR.

BY GEO. D. PRENTICE.

'Tis midnight's holy hour, and silence now
Is brooding like a gentle spirit o'er
The still and peaceless world. Hark! on the winds
The bell's deep tones are swelling: 'tis the knell
Of the departed year. No funeral train
Is sweeping past, yet on the stream and wood,
With melancholy light, the moon beams rest,
Like a pale, spotless shroud; the air is stirred
As by a mourner's sigh; and on you cloud,
That floats so still and placidly through heaven,
The spirit of the senses seem to stand—
Young Spring, bright Summer, Autumn's solemn form,
And Winter with his aged locks—and breathe,
In mournful cadences, that come abroad
Like the far wind harp's wild and touching wail,
Gone from the earth forever.

'Tis a time
For memory and for tears. Within the deep,
Still chambers of the heart, spectre dim,
Whose tones are like the wizard voice of time,
Heard from the tomb of ages, points its cold
And solemn finger to the beautiful
And holy visions that have passed away,
And left no shadow of their loveliness
On the dead waste of life. That spectre lifts
The coffin-lid of hope and joy, and love,
And bounding mournfully above the pale,
Sweet forms that slumber there, scatters dead flowers
O'er what has passed to nothingness The year
Has gone, and with it many a glorious throng
Of happy dreams. Its mark is on each brow,
Its shadow in each heart. In its swift course
It waved its scepter o'er the beautiful,
And they are not. It laid its pallid hand
Upon the strong man, and the haughty form
Is fallen, and the flashing eye is dim,
It trod the hall of revelry, where thronged
The bright and joyous; and the tearful wail
Of stricken ones is heard where erst the song
And reckless shout resounded. It passed o'er
The battle plain, where sword, and spear, and shield
Flashed in the light of mid-day; and the strength
Of serried hosts is shivered, and the grass,
Green from the soil of carnage, waves above
The crushed and mouldering ske eton. It came
And faded like a wreath of mist at eve;
Yet, ere it melted in the viewless air,
It heralded its millions to their home
In the dim land of dreams.

Remorseless time!
Fierce spirit of the glass and scythe! What power
Can stay him in his silent course, or melt
His iron heart to pity. On, still on
He presses and forever. The proud bird,
The condor of the Andes, that can soar
Through Heaven's unfathomable depths, or brave
The fury of the Northern hurricane,
And bathe his plumage in the thunder's home,
Furls his broad wings at nightfall, and sinks down
To rest upon his mountain crag; but Time
Knows not the weight of sleep or weariness:
And night's deep darkness has no chain to bind
His rushing pinion. Revolutions sweep
O'er earth like troubled visions o'er the breast
Of dreaming sorrow; cities rise, and sink
Like bubbles on the water; fiery isles
Spring blazing from the ocean, and go back
To their mysterious caverns; mountains rear
Their tall heads to the plain, new empires rise,
Gathering the strength of hoary centuries,
And rush down like Alpine avalanche,
Starting the nations; and the very stars,
Yon bright and burning blazonry of God,
Glitter awhile in their eternal depths,
And like the Pe'ad, ove iest of their train,
Shoot from their glorious spheres, and pass away
To darkle in the t ackless void. Yet Time,
Time, the tomb bu ider, holds his fierce career,
Dark, stern, all pitiless; and pauses not
Amid the mighty wrecks that strew his path,
To sit and muse, like other conquerors,
Upon the fearful ruin he has wrought.

I HAVE ASSOCIATED WITH ME DR. JOHN Wilson, late Principal of the Milton Female Academy, and shall reopen my school on the 1st February, 1866. Dr. Wilson graduated with first distinction at the University of North Carolina in the class of 1848, and has had several years experience in teaching. To my friends and the public I can say, that I know no one whom I would prefer to Dr. W, to be associated with me in my school.

ALEX. WILSON.

For terms, &c., address Rev. A. Wilson, D. D., Melville, Alamance County, N. C.

☞ The Salisbury Banner, Charlotte Democrat and Wilmington Journal will please publish four times, and send bills to Rev. Dr. Wilson, Melville.

CITY AND STATE ITEMS.

Upside Down.

Some of our principal business men on Fayetteville Street on yesterday morning commenced operations with their signs up side down. Rather a queer way to begin a new year, though we are quite sure the men themselves are right side up.

Municipal Election.

The election for Mayor and Commissioners for this City will be held on the third Monday of the present month. The reader will find one or two articles in to day's issue on the subject, but we wish it distinctly understood that the Sentinel takes no part in the city election. The very best men for the several positions should be chosen, without regard to their political views.

Eastern North Carolina.

This portion of the State with which we are connected by the Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal, is rich in those productions which largely enter into commerce and may be made to yield others which have not heretofore engaged the attention of its farmers. Its extent embraces a large area. It has been estimated to be double the extent of Massachusetts and Rhode Island combined. Corn has heretofore been the chief staple raised, which has been shipped North through its various outlets. Wheat is also raised to a large amount. The soil is favorable to the culture of the grape, which is thought to be destined to engage more of the attention of those occupied in tilling the soil, which embraces well nigh the whole population. It has been estimated that the grape culture has yielded annually for a considerable period, bushels to the acre, reaching to as many as a hundred. The wine now manufactured and brought to our markets, is of a quality superior to many of the light European wines which Mr. Jefferson wished to introduce into general use, instead of the stronger, more stupifying and deleterious compounds, which the vast majority of our population imbibe, and which bring in their train so many of the evils which spring from unlimited indulgence. Such is the adaptation of the soil to the grape culture, that it is said some of the vines extend over an acre of ground and are supported by a single main root or trunk, from which the branches spread forth over the land in rich luxuriance and from which, as from a parent stock, they derive the life and vigor which are exhibited in the rich and prolific clusters. It is a prophecy which may yet be realized; when this subject engages more enlarged and especial attention, and when a knowledge of the nature of the soil becomes diffused in those countries and districts where the culture of the grape affords occupation to a large portion of the capital and population of Europe, where we are now looking for immigration, and the more intelligent labor we need to supply the amount which has been displaced; that this portion of North Carolina will perhaps become the great vineyard of the United States, and the locality of the wine manufacture of the country.

The Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal has already added to the value of the land which it taps, but this will be increased when its fertility and nearness to market are more widely made known. There is also a vast growth of lumber which is rendered more valuable by reason of the facility of transporting it to market, which the canal affords. Though not so convenient for transportation as the localities of Norfolk and Portsmouth and Suffolk, and Wilmington by the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad; yet some of these lands which are reached by the Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal, are admirably adapted to the trucking business, the profits of which are highly remunerative when the element of quick transportation is possessed. They, however, possess a great advantage in being earlier, which is an indispensable advantage, and one which is certain to enhance the value of such vegtable products. For, it is this which now renders this business so profitable. It is the great feature in its success. The earlier tomatoes and peas, and cucumbers, and asparagus, and fruit can be placed in the Northern markets, where the demand may be said to be inexhaustible, the quicker the sales and the larger the profits. But, after all, without labor, we shall remain poor indeed. If diamonds in the rough were as thick around us as black or whortle berries, they would be profitless unless we had the force to collect them, and make merchandize of them. Labor, therefore, is now the great desideratum in the South—reliable, persistent labor, whose arm may be confidently relied upon. Hence, the great importance to the South of the immigration movement. But all our talk about the natural resources and advantages we possess, will be unavailing without the essential element of labor. The want of this is the want of everything else. Our want of labor is like the want of charity in the Christian character—we are as sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal.—Norfolk Virginian.

Saltness of the Sea as Affecting Navigation.

Surprise has been expressed that vessels going to Sebastopol take a smaller cargo than if they were only going to Constantinople, or that they diminish their cargo in the latter port before entering the Black Sea. The reason is this: the density of water of different seas is more or less considerable, and the vessels sailing in them sink more or less according to their density. The density arises from the quantity of salt contained in the water; and consequently, the salter the sea, is, the less a vessel sinks in it. As, too, the more sail a vessel carries, the deeper she penetrates the water, it follows that the more salt the water the greater the quantity of sail that can be carried. Now, as the Black Sea is sixteen times less salt than the Mediterranean, a vessel which leaves Toulon or Marseilles for Sebastopol must take a smaller cargo than one that only goes to Constantinople, and a still smaller one if it is to enter the Sea of Azoff, which is eighteen times less salt than the Mediterranean. The Mediterranean is twice as salt as the Atlantic, once more than the Adriatic, five times more than the Caspian Sea, twelve times more than the Ionian Sea, and seventeen times more than the Sea of Marmora. The Dead Sea contains more salt than any other sea. It is asserted on good authority that two tuns of its water yield 589 lbs. of salt and magnesia.—Scientific American.

The New Regime.

By reference to the telegraphic column, it will be seen that Provisional Government has ceased in North Carolina, and the reins of civil authority are hereafter to be in the hands of the people's choice. Governor Worth will immediately take the place of Ex Governor Holden, in the administration of State affairs. This is an event of great importance to our people, and exhibits a degree of confidence in the loyalty of North Carolinians which all the attempts of an unscrupulous journalism could not weaken in the President's mind. We hail it as a happy omen for the future of our commonwealth. She is the third in the list of Southern States to whom the courtesy has been extended.—Newbern Times.

Peter Klasser, of Waukesha, Wisconsin, killed himself by drinking whisky that had stood in a copper kettle several days, at Plum creek, last week. He died in half an hour, and a man who drank with him died in an hour, and his wife, who drank but little came near dying.

DIED,

Near Halifax, N. C., on the 18th ultimo, in the 30th year of her age, after a lingering illness of eighteen months, CATHARINE F., the only child of Sallie A. and the late George W. Gary, and wife of James L. Ousley, Esq.

The deceased was of that quiet, unobtrusive nature, which sheds its luster chiefly in the domestic circle, where woman's virtues find their noblest sphere, and exercise their greatest influence. She was he only child of fond parents, and from her widowed mother, of whom she was the idol, and whose every thought seemed to center in one word, daughter, she had never suffered a week's separation during her life. The indulgence inseparable from such a state, she never allowed to affect the amiability of her disposition, nor to beguile for a moment into forgetfulness of her duty and affection as a child. In the bloom and beauty of her early womanhood, she bestowed her hand on him who now lives to mourn her loss. Their union was based on mutual attachment cherished from their earliest days. Her virtues as a wife, were but the natural fruition of her blameless character as a child. She was the mother of two beautiful little girls on whom she lavished all the devotion that maternal love can bestow, to such an extent, indeed, that she declared she would cheerfully submit to all the suffering experienced on her sick bed, could she but live to guide them simply by her advice, until they might acquire wisdom to guard them against the snares of the world. Darkened, indeed, must be the hearthstone which shall no more be lit up by her smile. As, standing beside her lifeless form, I saw little Sallie steal from her mother the last kiss, as I thought how that maternal heart ever leaped to meet the beloved caress, I could not but feel how much more difficult it is to see the wisdom of God in taking a mother from her helpless babes, than in any other of His dispensations. But He who permitted this sad affliction "doeth all things well." He tempereth the blast to the shorn lambs, and He will, of His goodness and mercy, protect the motherless, and heal the hearts of the desolate.

A Few Important Facts in Regard to the Southern Hepatic Pills.

1 They are prepared from the best quality of Medicine by the discoverer, now an aged minister of the Gospel, and are safe.

2 They have been known for years and tested by thousands in the South, and are specially adapted to the diseases of this climate.

3 Hundreds of persons are known to have been cured by them.

4 They are not recommended by the proprietor for everything, but only for diseases which arise from disordered livers.

5 Directions and certificates accompany each box, and these certificates are from well known and most respectable individuals.

6 Correspondents recommend them as good for Liver Disease, Chills and Fever, Pneumonia, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Bilious Fevers, Billious Rheumatism, Worms. Pluriesy, Bronchitis, Costiveness, Diarrhœa and Hepatic Consumption.

7 Several gentlemen state that the use of these Pills has been to them an annual saving of from $100 to $200.

8 Some Physicians of the highest standing prescribe them to their patients, and hundreds of boxes have been sold to regular practitioners.

FAYETTEVILLE N. C. MILITARY ACADEMY.

THE EXERCISES OF THIS INSTITUTION have been resumed without the military feature, and an additional number of pupils will be received for the balance of the session, which will terminate 26 weeks from the 1st of January, 1866. The discipline and course of instruction will be the same as in similar schools, with the exception of a thorough course in the Ancient Languages, embracing Latin and Greek composition. In surveying and engineering the instruction will be both theoretical and practical. Arrangements will be made at an early day to secure a complete set of Chemical and Philosophical apparatus. No pains or expense will be spared to make this one of the best Schools in the country. The buildings are located on Haymount which overlooks the town of Fayetteville, and which is remarkable for the healthiness of the location, the beauty of the scenery, and the intelligence, refinement and high moral character of the people. There is almost daily connection between Wilmington and Fayetteville by steamboat, and this is suggested as the best route to the latter place from almost any quarter. Students will be received at any time, and will be charged from the date of entrance, though it will be best to enter about the 1st of January, 1866.

Terms for 26 weeks from 1st of January, 1866, payable in advance:

Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime,
OR BONE MANURE.

WARRANTED GENUINE.

BEING MADE OF THE BEST MATERIAL AND in the most approved manner, it is recommended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise, and those engaged in its manufacture will continue their best endeavors to advance the high reputation which it has acquired.

We guarantee the Phosphate to be well manufactured, and recommend it in preference to any other artificial manure in the market. We consider it nearly equal to the best Peruvian Guano, although furnished at half the price.

Messrs. B. H. Allen & Co., the well known manufacturers of agricultural implements, say of it:

"We take pleasure in stating that we have sold E. F. Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime for four years—It has given universal satisfaction to our customers. We most cheerfully endorse it as an article worthy of the confidence of the public, and the purchaser may rely upon securing an article honestly and carefully manufactured.

"We would state that, after careful examination, we believe this Phosphate has been improved each year since its introduction in this market, and that it will continue to maintain its present high standing. "Very respectfully,

"R. H. ALLEN & CO.,
"No. 191 Water street, New York."

E. FRANK COE, ESQ.,

Annexed please find result of my analysis of sample of your Super Phosphate of Lime left with me. This being such a superior article in every respect, I cannot refrain from congratulating you upon such manufacture, which undoubtedly will meet with great success.

Wishing you every success, I am,
Respectfully yours,
G. A. LEIBIG.

PHILADELPHIA.
ASTOR PLACE, NEW YORK. | 19 GREEN ST, BOSTON.
ADDRESS THE INVENTOR,
B. FRANK. PALMER, LL.D. PRES'T. A. A. LIMB. C'S.

These inventions stand approved as the "best" by the most eminent Scientific and Surgical Societies of the world, the inventor having been honored with the award of FIFTY GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS (or "First Prizes") including the Great Medals of the World's Exhibition in London and New York; also the most Honorary Report of the great Society of Surgeons of Paris, giving his Patents place above the ENGLISH AND FRENCH.

Dr. Palmer gives personal attention to the business of his profession, aided by men of the best qualifications and greatest experience. He is specially commissioned by the Government and has the patronage of the prominent Officers of the Army and Navy. Six Major-Generals and more than a thousand less distinguished officers and soldiers have worn the PALMER LIMBS on active duty, while still greater numbers of eminent civilians are, by their aid, filling important positions, and effectually conceal their misfortune.

Rosin Oil! Rosin Oil!!

THE SUBSCRIBERS HAVE GOT their Rosin Oil Factory again in operation, and are prepared to execute all orders with dispatch. They would call the attention of Southern Railroad Cos, and Tanners, particularly to this Oil, so extensively used by them during the war. A small quantity of

LARD, TALLOW OR SPERM OIL, added to the refined

ROSIN OIL,

renders it equal to the best Sperm for

Lubricating Purposes or for Leather, at a cost of one third of the price of the latter. Their

Tanner's Oil

is warranted free from Naptha. This Oil is also extensively used for

PAINTING IN ALL COLORS,

and forms a more solid and durable coating than Linseed. It is especially recommended for all surfaces exposed to the weather.

All orders addressed to the undersigned will receive prompt attention.

Pioneer Line of Steamers
FOR
Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Boston, via Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal.

THE COMMODIOUS STEAMERS PIONEER and Commodore Adams, will leave Newberne for Norfolk on TUESDAY of each week at 8 o'clock A M, connecting with the different lines of steamers for the above-named points. On and after the first day of December next they will leave on Tuesday and Friday of each week, making semi-weekly trips. Shippers of Goods will receive every facility and accommodation for the transportation of the same, as arrangements have been made with the different companies to forward goods to this line at low rates and without delay. Each of these steamers are capable of carrying through the canal without difficulty, as they were built expressly for the trade. They are fitted up with STATE ROOMS and BERTHS capable of accommodating thirty-five passengers. Every attention will be paid to the comfort of passengers, who will not be subject to the inconvenience of transfer to other vessels, but will be taken through direct without charge.

250 TONS OF FREIGHT,

The tables of the steamers are liberally supplied with the best the market affords. Families traveling will find it to their interest to take this line, as they will thereby escape the danger and discomfort of a sea route and the fatigue of railroad travel.

On the 15th of December next, if the business of the line warrants it, the steamer Williams will be put on the route, and tri weekly trips will be made.

For freight or passage apply to Whitford, Dill & Co., Newbern, N C.

True Honesty.

Some ten or more years ago I was employed to examine the title of a parcel of land in Massachusetts. In making my investigation, I found that one of the prior grantors, through whom my client derived his title, had possessed only an estate for life, and could not, therefore, legally convey any greater estate. He had supposed, however, that he possessed an estate in fee, which in law, a larger estate. Acting on this supposition, he attempted to convey it as such to his niece. This transaction had occurred when the value of the land was only some few hundred dollars. At the time of my examination, however, a large manufacturing town had been built up around the land, and had greatly increased in value.

On discovering this fatal defect in my client's title, it became very desirable to know in whom the legal title to the land vested. After much and careful inquires, I found that a young man in Peterboro, N. H., was the legal owner. I also ascertained that the young man did not know that he was the legal owner of the land.

After consultation with my client, I went to Peterboro, to do the best for him that I could. I soon became acquainted with the young man, and after carefully observing him, and reflecting on all the circumstances of the case, I felt convinced that the best promote the interest of my client by leaving the whole matter to the young man, and letting it to him to act as he should think proper. Accordingly stated the whole case to him. "Well, what do you want me to do?" I replied Mr. T., my client, would like a quit-claim deed of the land from him. "Have you such a deed made out for me to sign?" he asked. "Yes" I answered, and produced it. He read it carefully through, then said, "Let us go over to ——, a justice of the peace." We did so. There he executed the deed, acknowledged it before the justice, and delivered it to me. "Now," said he, "tell me what the present value of the land is. I would not make this inquiry before I signed the deed, lest I should be hindered from doing what was right; for now I should like to know the value of the property I have parted with." I told him it was estimated at from fourteen to twenty thousand dollars. He said that he hoped it would have made no difference with him in signing the deed, whatever value of the land might have been, but that he did not wish to inquire till he had placed himself beyond the reach of temptation, for he wanted to do what was right.—Christian Register.

Christmas Presents.

It was Christmas Eve. New York city was all life and bustle. Everybody was getting ready to keep christmas. Everybody was happy. The cars came in loaded with daughters, sons brothers, sisters, fathers, mothers—all coming home to spend the holidays. I walked down Broadway.—Every poor man seemed to be carrying home a turkey. Little boys were loaded with market baskets bigger than themselves, declaring to their fathers, that "they were not heavy," and refusing any assistence.

Then the toy shops—how full they were—dolls, drums, trumpets, puzzles, and all such things as children love, were being bought at a great rate. I waited a full hour at a candy shop, before I could get anybody to sell me some candy for a bright eyed little girl I know.

It does one good to see so many folks happy.—Some people say that the true way to be happy yourself is to make others so. If you don't think that is true, just try it.

I had made my purchases, and was on my way home with candy and toys. As I passed a toy store I saw two persons looking in the window, and talking very earnestly. One was a poor woman. I knew she was poor by her dress. She had not enough on to keep her warm on a cool summer day, and then it was winter. She had such a forlorn look, too. She wore an old straw bonnet, but it had no caps, and few things in it, (I don't know what the ladies call them.) It had no ribbon on the outside; her shawl was very thin, and wrapped tightly around her, and she had no collar.

By her side stood a little girl, without shoes and stockings; she wore an old hood, which was too large for her. I listened to their conversation.

"What would you like, my darling?" asked the mother.

That poor little child, then, was "bedarling." She was its mother, and the rags, the hunger, and the want of the child, made it dear to her.

"What would you like, my darling?" she asked.

"That beautiful doll, mother," she replied, "if you can buy it."

She pointed to one of the ugliest looking Dutch dolls I ever saw. Its head looking like a small turnip dipped in red ink, with two or three specks of black ink, to represent eyes, nose, mouth, etc. Do you think the little girl liked that doll better than the others with beautiful faces, and real hair? No, it was cheap, that was why she pointed to it.

They went into the store. I followed.

"What is the price of that doll in the corner?"

"Ten cents," was the answer.

The poor woman's eyes fell, and a look of anguish came over her face, and tears rolled down her cheeks, as she came out of the store.

She took the little girl in her arms, and stood still looking in the window at the doll. "My darling," she said, "your mother has but five cents, and it almost breaks my heart that I cannot buy it."

"Dear mother, don't cry; I don't want a doll. I'd rather not have one, if you will not cry. I only want to see you happy. We have got a nice dinner for to-morrow; let the doll go."

I saw the mother press the little one to her heart, and heard her sob out the words, "God bless you, my child." And I thought there was another there, though unseen, that pressed the little child to his heart, and gave her his blessing. Such a child always has the blessings of the Great Father of children, who came down from heaven one christmas to die for them.

Just then a gentleman who had seen what passed, took the little child by the hand into the store, and bought her a very handsome doll, and gave her a Christmas present besides. It made the child and her mother happy, and I have often heard him say, that to himself it was one of the happiest moments of his life.

If you think making others happy won't make you happy, just try it.—Falkner.

IMPORTANT COMMUNICATION

For the Times, and all Times, to be Considered.

The first stone in the structure of life insurance was laid by the hand of the Almighty when he planted in the human heart the generous impulses of love and affection, which prompt us to provide for our own; but the keystone is this law of average to recuse which we bind ourselves together to bear each other's burdens, the stronger and richer, as the longer lives must be, helping the weaker and poorer brother that is cut down in early life, and by the universal law of compensation it gives us either the blessings of a long life, or the pleasing assurance of leaving a competency to our loved ones, as the films of death are curtaining them from our sight forever.

Times like the present make most manifest the peculiar benefit of life insurance. Business is interrupted. Men are anxious for the future. Thousands have families growing up around them whose property depends upon the continuance of the father's life. Should he die, the income would cease; the children must be withdrawn from school; the mother and elder children must resort to every expedient to sustain the family; and, in many cases with the utmost exertion, this can not be done; the wife will return to her father for support, and the children, separated, must go the older to seek work, and the younger be distributed among friends. Such reverses befall men the least expecting them. While business is active, and prosperity gives exhiliration and hope, men can hardly be made, to feel that they are within a hand's breadth of utter reverse, and that their families may be scattered in a month, by the death of the father. But hard times lead men to think of these things.

Now if a man has insured a sum of one, five or ten thousand dollars upon his life, this anxiety is removed. While he lives, he can support his family. If he dies, ample provision is made for them.

It is every man's duty to provide for his family. That provision must include its future contingent condition. That provision, so far as it is material-men ordinarily seek to secure by their own accumulations and investments. But all these are uncertain. The man rich to-day, is, from causes beyond his reach, poor to-morrow. A war in China a revolution in Europe, a rebellion in America, overrule ten thousand fortunes in every commercial community. But, in life insurance there are no risks or contingencies. Other investments may fail. A house may burn down. Banks may break. Bonds and mortgages may be seized for debt, and all property may fall into the bottomless gulf of bankruptcy. But money secured to your family by life insurance will go to them without fail or interruption, provided you have selected a sound and honorable insurance company. Of two courses, one of which may leave your family destitute, and the other of which assures them a comfortable support at your decease, can there be a doubt which is to be chosen?"

The benefits of life insurance are not confined to a provision for families, but are as numerous as the various circumstances of individuals. It enables a person to make a provision for a wife, a parent, a child, a friend or domestic, depending on him, and he lives secure, that while his industry is providing for their support, his savings are effectually guarding them against want in the event of his death, thus doing his whole duty toward them instead of only one half of it.

It enables a person to raise money on loans where real security can not be offered, to provide for the prompt payment of his debts in the case of his death, and to secure the eventual payment of doubtful debts.

By it a charitable individual may donate a legacy to some beneficent institution; or a congregation a support to their minister's family in case of his death.

It provides means to reimburse the sum expended in the purchase of any life estate, on the death of the person during whose life it is held; to remove incumbrances, payable on events connected with the termination of life; and secures the return of money paid for education, for capital embarked in business, or other advances made for children or others, in the event of their premature death; and, generally it affords a certain indemnity against any pecuniary loss whatsoever, to which one individual may become subject by reason of the death of another.

It is a subject, then, which concerns the poor as well as the rich, the man living on his income, the mechanic the farmer, the professional man, the merchant—in short all classes of the community.

Surely, such an institution deserves the countenance, the consideration and support of all reflecting men, and is doubly recommended, when it is considered how very small a sacrifice of some personal gratification, will secure, by its means, the independence and happiness of a family.
